VOL. 24.

RENO, WASHOE COUNTY, NEVADA. SUNDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 18, 1885.

16.

A Grand Jury has in Louisiana has officially limited the amount of whisky which a doctor may prescribe to four ounces in each case. They did not touch the oftenness of the dose, preferring to leave that to the judgment of the patient, we suppose.

Of seven young men who graduated from an Eastern college a few years ago, four are teaching school, one is editing a newspaper, one has been elected to Congress, and one is a curve pitcher for a professional base-ball club.

Mr. Chandler of New Hampshire is the last centenarian to get ripe for the press, with the usual lot of children, and grand and great-grand children and a record of hot biscuit, hard cider and pie for breakfast.

Mrs. Mace, a spicy poetess from Maine, will winter in California. We print this as a warning to newspaper men of the approach of another star-eyed enemy armed with folios of poetry on Spring.

NOW AND IN THE FUTURE.

The State Fair has proven a most complete success. Of the many who have visited the Fair grounds and Pavilion we have heard but one expression. For this success Nevada is indebted to the energy and business-like management of the Directors who have left nothing undone that was necessary to bring about this favorable result. Not a county in the State has not been represented in some one of the exhibits, and visitors have come from far and near. The showing of live stock would have done credit to any State, and everybody was pleased with the speed ring. The Pavilion presented attractions never before presented in the State. The horticultural and agricultural displays were good. The Art Department was admired and praised by all who saw it. The Nevada Ladies' Art and Industrial Association contributed largely to this department. The thanks of the Society are due to the ladies of Carson for the interest taken by them. With the experience of this year, there is no question that the managers will give the people of Nevada a better Fair the next time. This was an experiment, the next one will not be. Everybody will have confidence, and being assured of the fairest treatment will aid by making the exhibits greater than ever before. If the next year shall prove the success this one did, the Legislature will feel disposed to assist by making an appropriation to further the interest of the Association in the future. Should this be done the neighboring counties of California will lend us a helping hand, as Inyo county did with her excellent display of fruits.

Judge Vincent's Suspension.

The prompt suspension of Judge Vincent by the President is very favorably commented on, as showing that the President will not tolerate any wrongdoing even by members of his own party or the appointees made by himself. Judge Vincent cannot plead ignorance of the circumstances surrounding Dorsey, and the general belief is that he made his selection with a full knowledge of all those who were interested in land speculations. The Supreme Bench of New Mexico, the most important court in any of the Territories, is, it would seem, demanding a good deal of the President's attention. Mr. Cleveland made a clean sweep of the Republican Judges, but one of his own appointments, Judge Fleming, of Ohio, has already resigned. To some people it will seem that the suspension of Judge Vincent follows suspiciously close upon Judge Fleming's arrival and his visit to the White House. Judge Fleming resigned ostensibly on account of ill-health, and the President gave him a short letter expressing his appreciation of the retiring official. Just why the certificate of character was given was not understood at the time, but the suggestion is thrown out now that the intention was to clear the skirts of Judge Fleming in advance of this second scandal.

The San Francisco Post says C. Meyer Zulick, the newly appointed Governor of Arizona, is not known to old dwellers in the Territory. He has only been a visitor there for about two and a half years and during that time his visits have only been short. However, since he became an applicant for the Governorship, he has lived in and about Tucson. His stake in the Territory consists of some mining property about Calabassa. Though his personal friends speak well of him, most Arizonians rather resent his appointment and regard him as a carpetbagger. He is an Eastern man, and until recently never pretended to look upon Arizona as anything but a foraging ground.

An analysis has been made of a Chinese tippie which they have been selling among themselves in New York City, free of excise. It is found to contain 38 per cent. of alcohol, and henceforth the Chinese will be required to have a license to sell their native drink.

DICKSON AND VARIAN STEP DOWN AND OUT.

All Glory and no Money.

Salt Lake Herald October 13th.

Vague rumors of some important changes in F. O. H. circles have been floating upon the streets for the past week, but not until recently have these rumors taken sufficient shape to be traced to any authentic source. Yesterday it was announced that Dickson and Varian had resigned their offices, and a hot buzz of excited comment and speculation at once ensued. Had their resignation been requested? Were they sick of warring on religious beliefs? Were they going to leave the Territory? Had they become frightened for themselves and their families by the recent dastardly outrages? All these queries and many others were vainly asked and as vainly answered, and to obtain a clear understanding of the matter, a Herald reporter last evening called upon Mr. Varian at his office, Mr. Dickson being absent at Court in Provo. The Assistant Prosecuting Attorney expressed himself as willing to answer any inquiries put by the reporter, who accordingly at once asked the reasons for the resignation.

"The reasons are," replied Mr. Varian, "that we feel we can do better for ourselves by practicing as a private firm."

"You will remain here, then?"

"Decidedly."

"When was your resignation forwarded?"

"Mine was sent September 5th, and here is its acceptance." He showed the reporter a brief letter from John Goode, Acting Attorney-General, dated September 12th, acknowledging receipt of the writer's favor of the 5th, and stating that his resignation as Assistant Prosecuting Attorney of Utah had been accepted.

"Mr. Dickson's resignation," said Mr. Varian, "was forwarded a week ago Sunday, and no answer to it has yet been received. It read 'to take effect December 31st, unless sooner acted upon,' so that a successor may be appointed any day. December 31st was named so that the court would not be left without a prosecutor, and the prosecutor be given time to look over the field. Both resignations are final, and the sooner we are out of it, the better we will be pleased."

"When did you decide on resigning?"

"We have decided for the past eight or nine months to retire, but could never do so without leaving something uncompleted, or some important question we had raised, undecided. We took the office a year ago last February."

"What is the salary of the Assistant Prosecuting Attorneys?"

"I received $1,500 a year. When Mr. Dickson came in he desired to have me appointed assistant at once, but Brewster would not remove Mr. Sprague for some time and I did not enter upon the office till last December. We have been paying two men right along, Lewis in Provo and Critchlow in Beaver, and all this has to come out of the sum allowed the District Attorney. Under Van Zile, Mr. Snow and Mr. Sprague were both paid by the government, but when Mr. Snow resigned, the Department refused to continue the allowance; there has been but a niggardly salary left after making all the payments for aid, as you can see, and we have simply decided that we can do far better for ourselves by practicing as a private firm. Added to that the office is very far from being a pleasant one; there is a good deal of traveling necessary, and no little amount of disagreeable work, abuse, and ill-feeling to encounter."

"Have you any idea as to who the successor will be?"

"None. Mr. J. A. Marshall, of Hall & Marshall, is most largely backed by the bar here, and I signed our firm's name to a petition in his behalf to-day."

Thanking Mr. Varian for his information, the reporter withdrew.

Plain Truths for Girls Who Flirt.

(Newark Advertiser.)

Whatever idea the young girls who practice street flirting may entertain of their seemingly innocent pastime, it may be set down as a certainty that, when a respectable young man desires the acquaintance of one who may some day become his wife, he doesn't go out on the street and seek for acquaintance through a flirtation. But, on the other hand, the flirt of the street, no matter how innocent and fair her intentions may be, is the last person he would seek as his life's companion. He desires purity, without and above suspicion. The young lady who engages in this kind of pastime should bear in mind that she not only endangers her reputation and leaves a stain upon her good name, but that her name is a by-word among those with whom she flirts, to be bandied about in the saloons, on the street corners, and in low unholy places in the city, fastening on her otherwise fair name a stigma or stain that will follow her years after she sees her folly and attempts to mend her ways.

Let us go to Syracuse, N. Y., where a peace that passeth all understanding has been secured by an ordinance requiring milkmen and peddlers to ring the bells or shout in the streets before 7 A. M.

LAGER BEER.

The Extent and Distribution of the Brewing Industry of the United States.

(Harper's Weekly.)

Our Teutonic brethren are the chief makers as well as the chief drinkers of this other beverage that according to this modern King Cole "cheers but not inebriates." Nineteen-twentieths of the breweries in the Union are operated by Germans, and as a rule the cities which show the largest proportion of this foreign element exhibit also the largest beer-producing interest. According to the ratio of population Milwaukee leads off as first on the list, as this is its chief industry; only New York and Philadelphia exceed it in aggregate production; followed close by St. Louis, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Boston, Chicago and Newark, in the order named. These nine cities represent five-eighths of the entire production of the country, while in proportion to the capital invested Milwaukee again leads the list with only one manufacturing interest exceeding that of beer in St. Louis and but two in New York and Boston. An industry which takes such a prominent position among the productions of the world, calling for the highest perfection and the development of the latest resources in scientific discovery, and which is exceeded in the capital invested by only five other (metal products, cotton goods, woollen and worsted goods, lumber and grist) in our own land, may well claim attention.

The United States Supreme Court.

Whether there will occur enough vacancies on the bench of the Supreme Court of the United States within the next three and a half years to enable President Cleveland to reconstruct that tribunal by appointing a majority of Democratic Judges, is a serious question. That a Democratic Court would declare the Constitutional Amendments invalid, hardly admits of a doubt. This would reopen every issue of the war for a new settlement, and would involve only turmoil, disturbance and disaster.

The present Judges of the Supreme Court, with the date of their respective appointments and the age of each are as follows:

	Age.	Ap.
Chief Justice R. M. Waite	69	1874
Samuel F. Miller	69	1862
Stephen J. Field	69	1863
Joseph P. Bradley	72	1870
John M. Harlan	52	1877
William B. Woods	61	1880
Stanley Matthews	61	1881
Horace Gray	57	1881
Samuel J. McKim	62	1882

The law provides that, on the arrival of a Justice of the Supreme Court at the age of seventy years, he may, if he has been ten years on the bench, retire on the full salary of his office. It will be seen that Justice Bradley is already eligible for retirement, and Chief Justice Waite and Justices Miller and Field will be able to retire next year. None of the other members of the Court will be eligible for retirement in a number of years. Justice Field is the only Democratic member of the bench. If all the Justices who are now or will within a year become eligible for retirement should resign, and if Democratic Justices should be appointed to their places, the Court would still consist of five Republicans and four Democrats. In that case, the death of either of the Republican Justices and the appointment of a Democrat to fill the vacancy, would result in a majority of Democratic Justices.

It is not probable, however, that any of the Republican Justices of the Supreme Court will resign for the purpose of retiring on their pensions. If Justice Bradley had intended to resign, he would doubtless have done so last year in order to enable President Arthur to appoint a Republican jurist as his successor.

As to the three Justices who might retire next year on full pay, the indications are that they will not avail themselves of the privilege. Chief Justice Waite was in precarious health last year, but he has recently returned from a voyage to Europe with his health fully restored. Justice Miller long ago expressed a determination to resign at the age of seventy, but he has apparently recently undergone a change of purpose. He is in robust health and will probably be able to render service on the bench for many years to come. Whether Justice Field should resign or not, would make no difference with the political complexion of the Court.

From this review of the circumstances it does not appear probable there will be any resignation from the Supreme Court. Such being the case, President Cleveland will not be enabled to pack the bench with Democrats, unless vacancies shall be created by death, or a law shall be enacted to increase the number of the Justices to a sufficient extent for that purpose. As the Senate will in all probability continue to be Republican throughout the present Presidential term, that opportunity will not be offered to the President.—Chicago Journal.

F. Meyer Zulick, of Arizona, has been appointed Governor of that Territory, vice F. A. Trille, resigned.

Go to Carson and have some fun.
The Grand Jury will be in session tomorrow.

Irvin Ayres came up from Oakland yesterday.

The Fair next year will be even better than this one.

Leadbetter has purchased the exhibit of Inyo county fruit.

Gov. Adams will, we hope, appoint some good man Commissioner.

Congressman Woodburn and family have been delighted with the Fair.

The Pavilion should have a wing added for next year. Justice cannot be done the exhibits or the people without more room.

The remains of the late "Josh Billings" were on the east bound overland train yesterday morning, accompanied by his widow.

John Sweeney has advertised a trotting race and running race for Monday at the racing which is to take place in Carson this week.

The fair games did not make any money Fair week. The game of Ross, Webber & Carroll, quit about $5,000 loser, so it is said.

The Grand Jury of Humboldt county has found a true bill of indictment against M. D. Stewart for the murder of Louis Fontaine, at Spring City, last July.

Two hundred ladies can be seated at Keelors, ladies auction sale on Monday at 2 o'clock sharp. Five elegant presents given away to advertise the sale for three days.

State Treasurer Tuffy is said to be suffering from a severe attack of pneumonia. His daughter, Theresa, who has been attending the Fair was called home yesterday on account of the illness of her father.

Considerable internal complications have arisen in the San Francisco Customs House regarding the administration of the Chinese Restriction Act at this port, and it is stated that the matter will be made the subject of an investigation by the Federal Grand Jury. The origin of the trouble was the charge of an attempt to bribe made against Deputy Marshal Mellins by Customs Inspector Hawes.

THE STATE FAIR.

The State Fair is over, and yesterday was as pleasant a day and fully as interesting as any of the week. The attendance at the track was very good. The premiums were awarded in the live stock department, D. F. Leete receiving the Society's gold medal for the best exhibit. The Journal will publish the list as soon as perfected.

The first heat in the pacing race was a good one between Prince and Nevada, as Shaker and Ackerman broke badly, and came very near being distanced. Nevada won the heat, Prince second, Ackerman third.

The second heat was a repetition between Nevada and Prince. Time 2:25. The third heat was gallantly won by Prince in 2:32, Ackerman second, Nevada third.

The fourth heat and race was won by Nevada in the good time of 2:25 1/4, and the public was glad of it because the horse was named after the State.

The free for all trot was contested for by Belle Spencer, Lucy, Artist, Hancock and Blacksmith, and the first heat was won by Lucy in 2:33 1/4, Hancock second, Artist third, Spencer fourth and Blacksmith fifth.

The second heat was also won by Lucy, Artist second, Hancock third, Blacksmith fourth, Spencer last. Time 2:33.

The third heat was won by Lucy, Blacksmith second, Artist third, Spencer fourth, Hancock fifth. Time 2:32 1/4.

THE RENO FAIR.

The Carson Index, of Thursday, says: "The arrival of the excursion train from Virginia shows to every observer that our riverside neighbor, Reno, is full of that life and cheerfulness which betokens good feeling and an extraordinary occasion to bring it forth. The town is thronged with people from all parts of the State. The leading interests of our State have able and earnest representatives from whom one can easily gain an epitome of political, industrial, mining, educational and agricultural status of the Silver State."

The great attraction is, of course the State Fair, which is the most successful in point of varied and excellent exhibits as well as in point of attendance which has taken place for many years.

AT THE FAIR GROUND.

About two miles from Reno one meets a concourse of people which is quite bewildering and one must look about somewhat before determining the most advantageous programme for systematic visitation of the various attractions. Every afternoon there is, of course, a special programme which attracts the chief attention of the many, but there are not a few who are so self composed that they take greater and more quiet enjoyment in carefully surveying the splendid exhibit of horses, cattle, sheep, hogs, poultry, etc.

THE STOCK EXHIBIT

has never been approached in excellence since our State was organized. It is a surprise to many who have not acquainted themselves with the great progress which has of late years been made in all parts of the State in the rearing and importation of blooded stock of all kind. The display of Short Horns, Devons, Herefords, Jerseys, Red Polled, Galloways and Holsteins is remarkable both in number and excellence.

The specimens exhibited show to perfection the characteristics and possibility of different breeds. Among them are natives of the Netherlands, England, New Zealand, Canada and the United States.

The exhibit of horses not used in the speed ring is also extensive and excellent. It is a pleasure to note the splendid Clydesdales, both pure and of part blood, which are so rapidly improving the work animals of our State. Roadsters of fair form and spirited action are also being raised, and in point of form and health can be excelled nowhere. Stables of beautiful thoroughbreds are present and participating in the races. Trotting horses, many of them reared on our own soil, are being driven in the contests which bring out their splendid qualities and fast time. The grand stand and area are crowded with interested and admiring throngs of people to observe the contests which are so honorably conducted that but few complaints are heard—while none prove to be reasonable.

The Free merinos and Spanish merino varieties of sheep are handsomely represented, while among swine and every variety of choice poultry the exhibit is hard to be excelled. It is proper here to remark that the farmers of Truckee Meadows, as if feeling honored with the permanent holding of the State annual Fairs in their midst, have emulated the other portions of the State in their efforts at skillful breeding of fine strains of all classes of domestic animals except thoroughbred horses. Mr. Theodore Winters of Washoe Valley will hold the palm as he has for nearly a quarter of a century in the latter particular.

The music "between acts" is just splendid.

RACES! RACES!

Free Programme for Carson—$2,500 in Purses.

The Tribune says:

Mr. John Sweeney has succeeded in arranging one of the finest week's programmes for the initiation of his new race track near this city next week ever prepared this side of the Sierra Nevada. He has made arrangements with all the leading horsemen at the Reno Fair to be in attendance with their fast stock.

He proposes to give away $2,500 in purses, and have three races each day of the week. Another reason why the races here will be better than in Reno is the fact that the horses will be matched and handicapped so as to make the contests close and hard to guess. The first day's programme, which appears in another column of the Tribune, gives a pretty good idea of what may be expected. There will be a half mile dash for a purse of $200, in which there will be five starters, and a single dash of one mile, in which there will be four starters. There will be a trotting race, three in five, purse of $250, for the 2:30 class. The entries are Victor, Kate Bender, Wm. Toll, Lucy and Crabbs. The man who guesses the winner can bag a bushel of money.

Car's brass band will be present and enliven the occasion with music. The admission fee for all this sport and amusement will only be fifty cents, with no extra charge for seats in the grand stand, carriages or vehicles of any description. All the necessary money has not been raised as yet, but it is hoped that all our business men and citizens generally will stand in and cheerfully respond and help Sweeney make the week's sport all he contemplates. Stand in everybody.

At the meeting of the Board of Regents of the State University at Reno last Saturday Mr. Rand, of this county, introduced resolution recommending the order raising the price of State lands, but Regents Shaw and Gatchell voting in the negative it was lost. It is gratifying to know that the member from our county placed himself right on the record in attempting to carry out the nearly unanimous wish of the people of the State in this matter. Mr. Rand was opposed to the order when it was originally made. —Tuscarora Times Review.
